

Aquinas High School had a wonderful 'first' on Tuesday, October 30. It was an evening at the New York Athletic Club arranged by club member Kathleen Rooney O'Brien '62 and attended by about fifty alumnae spanning the decades from the fifties to the current time.

Sr. Margaret Ryan welcomed everyone and narrated the PowerPoint presentation which mingled scenes of Aquinas yesterday and today, highlighting fundamental belief statements affirmed by the school community.

Stephanie Rodriguez and Devaneke Crumpler '08 spoke about their Aquinas experience and all that their sponsors' generosity had make available to them.

Sr. Catherine Rose Quigley gave some insights into the process of renewal of accreditation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools which Aquinas has just successfully completed.

The evening was a happy combination of old ties and a new setting. The general feeling was "Let's do it again!"
